

Guiding Questions

The video presentation explores how U.S. diplomats work on a global issue overseas. Here are some guiding questions to think about as you watch the video:

In what country does the activity in the video take place? On which continent is this country?

Are there problems or challenges discussed? What are they?

Who in the video is affected by this problem?

Who in the video is working on this problem?

In the video, there are statements made by U.S. diplomats about how they work on this problem. What have you learned about what they do?

Are there different partners or organizations working together to confront the problem? Who are they?

How are countries and organizations coming together to work on the issue?

For further thinking:

Do you think the problem is a global problem? Why?

Do you think the problem discussed in the video is a problem in the United States? Why?

How do you think governments of different countries can come together to solve this problem?
